In brief

◆ Globe Wireless has released its newest shipboard data communications product, dubbed GlobeRelay Version 2. GlobeRelay can be connected to a broad range of systems, and subscribes to industry standard interface protocols such as MAPI, SMTP and POP3.

In addition to enabling e-mail messaging for users, it has a security facility, and users and applications can be configured with restrictions on message size, billing codes and similar parameters. Shane Rossbacher, product manager for GlobeRelay, said that the application "has also improved our GlobeCrew e-mail offering. Now we can provide vessels with an e-mail kiosk, where crew can send and receive mail in a private environment."
